A Weekly Encounter: 52 Meditations of Hope joins inspirational quotations by world-renowned personalities from throughout history with Bible verses to offer a years worth of thought-provoking weekly meditations. With quotes from world leaders such as Thomas Jefferson, thinkers such as Aristotle and Confucius, and countless other writers, philosophers, religious leaders, social activists, and sports stars, the individuals quoted represent diverse cultures, national origins, creeds, and historical periods. Interestingly, the quotations show that, whether secular or spiritual, these iconic figures have often meditated on the magnanimity of the Creator. With this book, their words will encourage thoughtful meditation on various related ideas within each of the fifty-two Thought of the Week meditation topics based on biblical verse. In addition to the weekly meditations, a list of carefully selected readings is provided for further exploration of the concepts presented. This easy-to-use book is organized into nine thematic chapters, which can be read in any order. And while the chapters look at issues such the church, love, light, and joy, the focus of the book is to offer hope in the message of Jesus Christs resurrection and salvation.
